

Stamp Dealer Treasure Hunt

The stamps in this display are some of the items that sometimes show up in my life as a Stamp Dealer.

Marilyn

When the person came into my store with a whole bunch of sheets of unused US postage stamps, I had to let them know that the best thing they could do with them is to use them as postage because as a dealer, I don't even pay face value for them. I told them that I would be happy to look through them in order to see if there were any outstanding or more valuable stamps as well as being able to get a count of the total value of them.

As I am going through the pages in the sheet holder one by one, I am talking about the stamps. Are they were part of a series or unique event stamps and how they could be used as Christmas or Birthday presents for a better value than if they were sold to a Dealer. I came up to the page holding the first stamp sheet in this display and said, "This is a good example of what I am saying!" Use this as a gift to someone who loves Marilyn Monroe because they just are not going to be worth very much.

But then I turned the page and saw the second one displayed here.

"Except for this ONE!"

I explained about missing color errors and that there are EFO (Error, Freaks & Oddities) Collectors that search out these scarce mistakes and that first I need to get it authenticated...and then I will be the broker and find the best way to sell it for her.

So enjoy looking at it now because one day you might be seeing in Lynns Stamp Magazine!

LEGENDS of HOLLYWOOD

Marilyn Monroe™

Few other actresses personified the phrase "Hollywood movie star" as did Marilyn Monroe (1926-1962). Classically beautiful, Marilyn set the motion picture standard for glamour and sensuality in film favorites such as Some Like It Hot, Gentlemen Prefer Blondes, Bus Stop, and The Seven Year Itch.
